

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the Abstract with the following:

In some embodiments, a method is provided to receive from a user an affirmative indication via a peripheral device that the user is no longer using a system without powering down a processing unit, and adjust an original power policy of a processing unit in response to the received indication. The system comprises the processing unit and the peripheral device.